A ministry of the Board of Ordained Ministry of the Susquehanna Conference of the United Methodist Church

Local Pastors Licensing School provides the opportunity to gain necessary skills for ministry while connecting with other students and faculty from the Susquehanna Annual Conference. Those who attend the school should already have been certified by the District Committee on Ministry, or be in the process of receiving certification with their District Superintendent's approval. Attending the school fulfills part of the requirements for becoming a local pastor, but does not guarantee licensing.

Certified Lay Ministers are also welcome to attend. CLM's will receive certificates documenting their completion of the courses offered in Local Pastors School
